by Hailey Wacholz

Jake Baloun was born on September 24 to Corey and Kristin Baloun. Jake has two brothers named Cooper and Max.

The extra-curricular activities Jake participates in include football, basketball, FBLA, student council, National Honor Society. Baloun's accomplishments are honor roll, student of the month, homecoming royalty court, basketball and football team captain, football MVP award, two time All-state honorable mention football, local chapter FBLA, student vice president, and junior class president. His hobbies include sports, hunting, fitness, reading, and youth coaching.

When Jake was younger he wanted to be a football coach or a college professor. After he graduates he is going to attend South Dakota State University for construction management. In ten years Jake sees himself working for a construction company in a city or owning a construction company in South Dakota.

When asked what Jake's favorite memory from high school was he replied, "Someone on the basketball team junior year was dancing, scantily clad, on top of a locker when one of the coaches walked in. He gave a disgusted shake of his head, and left."

What he will miss the most about high school will be having fun and laughing every day. When Jake graduates he wants to be remembered as a person who was always positive and treated everyone kindly, and someone who people could look up to.
